

Entanglement

Written by

Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:18

Entanglement, two but one

Mark 10:9

□ therefore what God has joined together, let no one separate. (Net Bible)

"What therefore God has joined together, let no man separate." (New American Standard Bible 1995)

Therefore, don't let anyone separate what God has joined together. (Gods word Translation)

What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder (King James Bible)

It seems to me that if GOD says something in His word He usually have a good reason saying it or proclaiming it in His word, Marriage is the mystery among mysteries that God arranged. It not only affects the lifetime bliss of our individual lives, but it will also affect the future of our children and descendants, and determine the eternal inheritance of our descendants and us. The true mystery of marriage in the sense is that God said in His own words that , what He has joined no man can separate. If we look around us it would seemed to us that this scripture cant be true , why? Well most people nowadays Divorce left and right, its seems that Marriage Covenant has become disposable and that we as humans just think that if we decide to divorce our husband or wife that were rid of them and can go on with our lives, sho what a lie .In this session I will try to show You why the Lord said that what he joined together no man can separate, Why does God Say this and why then are there so many divorce around us?

Entanglement

Written by

Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:18

Well let's start at the smallest quantum particles. Entanglement is a strange feature of quantum physics, the science of the very small. It's possible to link together two quantum particles — photons of light or atoms, for example — in a special way that makes them effectively two parts of the same entity. You can then separate them as far as you like, and a change in one is instantly reflected in the other. This odd, faster than light link, is a fundamental aspect of quantum science. Erwin Schrödinger, who came up with the name “entanglement” called it “the characteristic trait of quantum mechanics.” Entanglement is fascinating in its own right, but what makes it really special are dramatic practical applications that have become apparent in the last few years.

Genesis 2:4-9, 15-24

"This at last is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; this one shall be called Woman, for out of Man this one was taken." Therefore a man leaves his father and his mother and clings to his wife, and they become one flesh.

So if we take in account that Quantum Physics tell us that 2 particles joined together cant really be separated, they form one and the one has an effect on the other , they are entangled , so basically no man can separated this bond its impossible. The bible tells us that a wife an husband become one in flesh after marriage , so not only do the vows or the covenant make them one but they actually are an new CREATION , 2 becoming one in flesh. Isn't this good news, so people might think that they are free after they divorced but in fact they are still joined together only death can separate the union. Quantum entanglement is the ability of two particles to be connected even when they are physically apart. It is what Einstein describes as the "spooky" effect exerted by particles upon each other even when they are separated. A feature of quantum physics, this connection has also been demonstrated in human relationships.

Entanglement

Written by

Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:18

In one study termed "The Love Study," Dean Radin at the Institute of Noetic Sciences demonstrated that a husband watching his wife and sending her loving thoughts (without her knowledge) could change her blood pressure and perspiration rate. During the times her husband was not looking at her, the laboratory graph showed a flat line; when he began staring at her and sending her loving intentions, the graph line spiked and displayed changes in her blood volume. Similar results were reported by three dozen double blind randomized studies conducted at other institutions.

Further biological evidence of quantum entanglement in human relationship is provided by Gregg Braden in "The Science of Peace and the Power of Prayer." He reports on experiments that show a strong connection between human DNA and matter.

In one experiment conducted by the Institute of Heart Math, scientists placed human placental DNA in separate vials which were then handed to individual researchers trained in ways of emanating emotions. Some were trained to feel gratitude, love and appreciation; others were trained to feel anger, fear and frustration. What the researchers discovered was that the DNA changed its shape according to the feelings of the researchers. DNA handled by positive researchers relaxed and became longer in strands; DNA handled by negative researchers tightened up, even reversing or switching off their genetic codes.

Entanglement

Written by

Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:18

The experiment was followed up by testing HIV positive patients where it was discovered that feelings of love and gratitude created in these patients immune resistance 300,000 times stronger than that in subjects who did not experience these feelings.

Colossians 3:12-17 (Love which binds everything together in harmony)

Another study they did, in which a loving married couple are separated and the wife is hooked up to some sort of monitoring thing. The husband is shown images of his wife on closed circuit TV at odd intervals and is supposed to “send loving thoughts” (or whatever) during those times. Then they check to see if the wife responded physiologically when the husband was beaming joyous ectoplasm her way. (Presumably the wife doesn’t know when her image is shown to her husband.)

So far they are finding a correlation — i.e., something about the husband’s fond thoughts actually affect his wife in another room.

Okay, so far so good. It’s an interesting anomaly. But then the materialists — desperate to find some known mechanical processes to explain this — misapply the concept of quantum entanglement. They’d be better off just saying, “We don’t know how this works.”

But we do, it’s in the scriptures. Until recently, quantum behaviour seemed to be the exclusive domain of tiny objects like atoms or electrons. However, entanglement of millimetre-sized membranes may soon come about, thus bringing quantum physics closer to our macroscopic world. Basically what the “Scientist” is figuring out now, the Lord told us already in Genesis, at the beginning of the creation.

Entanglement: passion at a distance.¹ Mr Schrödinger (another pioneer of quantum mechanics, and Nobel Prize winner: he promoted the cat example) coined the term “entanglement”(entrelazamiento) in 1935 to describe a peculiar connection between quantum systems:

physical interaction due to known

“When two systems enter into temporary forces between them, and when after a time of mutual influence the systems separate again, then they can no longer be described in the same way as before. I

Entanglement

Written by

Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:18

would not call that one but rather the characteristic trait of quantum mechanics, the one that enforces its entire departure from classical lines of thought. By the interaction the two systems have become entangled." So were a man and woman enters in marriage they become one in spirit, body and mind , They have become one totally and completely , so the one can never become two again.

{youtube}ja0UUKbVlhA{/youtube}

In this metaphor, nobody of the two lovers is complete on its own. Only when taken together, they complement each other. They are no separable halves of the same entangled entity. So my dear reader there are Hope given to us by our Lord Jesus Christ , if one of the husband or wife doesn't want to stay in the marriage anymore and divorce , don't panic , the Lord already got a plan .In His eyes your married forever no matter what the legal courts tell you , so start praying for your husband or wife , declaring scriptures with there names in them ,or if your not married start praying for any couple you know needs restoration.

There is Power in Prayer and in Standing for your marriage or family in unconditional love. You have the power throw your Lord Jesus to change your spouse or Loved ones.

Entanglement

Written by

Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 January 2010 20:18
